

Burntsand Delivers High Value Custom SOA Solution

Toronto, ON. February 5, 2008 – Burntsand, Inc. (Burntsand) (TSX: BRT), a leading North American provider of Integrated Information Management Solutions, today announced the completion of a custom application built using a Service Oriented Architecture (SOA) for a wireless communications operator. The contract, previously announced on April 16, 2007, was completed on-time and on-budget for the customer.

The eight month project has focused on creating a custom Microsoft.NET and SharePoint based application for communications sites in the wireless and broadcast industry. The new solution optimizes a variety of business processes, enabling the efficient and accurate management of complex projects. Users, including project teams, site supervisors and engineers now have a single point of access for searching, viewing, adding, editing and verifying information about the equipment and ground space at a site. The services oriented nature of the solution opens the door for future integration options, such as providing vendors and suppliers secure access to information about the sites.

“This type of large-scale project showcases our expertise at understanding, managing and successfully delivering a complex integration and development project on Microsoft’s industry leading application platforms” said Marty Glover, Burntsand’s CEO, “Burntsand’s unique delivery methodology, developed over the six years we have focused on large scale SharePoint and .Net projects, separates us as a Best in Class integrator in delivering optimized Time to Value on these platforms.”
